

Strategic Risk Solutions Achieves Higher Customer Satisfaction Ratings

Concord, MA – December 19, 2011. Strategic Risk Solutions (SRS), a provider of captive management and consulting services announced today the results of its annual customer survey.

Despite previously high ratings, overall customer satisfaction improved over 2010. All respondents to the survey said they were satisfied or highly satisfied with SRS services. The survey had a larger number of respondents than any of SRS's prior annual customer surveys.

(1 = very dissatisfied; 2= dissatisfied; 3 = neutral; 4 = satisfied; 5 = very satisfied)

“Providing high quality captive management and consulting services is the foundation of our business. This result is validation of the approach we have taken and an endorsement of our staff”, said Brady Young, President of SRS. “This is a continual process and we have implemented several measures during the year to maintain and improve the quality of our services. These include SAS 70 reviews and the creation of our Professional Standards Committee. While the survey ratings are high, there are areas for improvement and we will be working hard to ensure that we receive highly satisfied ratings from all our clients in future,” added Young

The survey was conducted in November of this year with 42% of customers responding. In addition to overall satisfaction, clients were asked to rate the quality of different aspects of the firm's captive management and consulting services, the quality of the staff, the level of support provided and the value for money of the firm's services.
